

Yankees Must Help To Keep Boche Beaten By Occupation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

Paris, Jan. 12.—We have been watching with understanding—but with much anxiety—the demonstrations here in Paris by the GI's who want to be sent back home.

The GI viewpoint is indeed easily understandable. He isn't a professional soldier, but one of the millions of fellows who have given up college or employment and have left their homes to risk their lives on the battlefields for Uncle Sam. He's a grand chap, who has done a magnificent job—and done it patriotically. Now he is homesick and aching to get back to his folks and own pursuits.

If that were the whole story, the only concern would rest in how long it would take to demobilize the American force in Europe.

But it isn't the whole story by a long shot, for when the GI gives up his duties as a part of the occupation troops of Germany, he must be replaced by another well-trained soldier—or at least there must be sufficient replacements so that America can maintain a powerful force in the Reich indefinitely.

Occupation Necessary
Long before the war ended, the Allied leaders had decided that there was the only possible way to insure the world against further German aggression. That was for Allied troops to occupy the fatherland over a long period of years, during which the people would be re-educated in the ways of peace and democracy.

We invited the Second World War—and got it—by our failure to occupy Germany in 1918 and finish off the job. Now we are faced with a similar problem. How will it be solved? Well, a lot of Germans are thinking, and hoping, that in a year or two there won't be any Americans left in the country.

However, that won't happen unless America decides to wash her hands of Europe. We would, of course, withdraw all troops from Germany and leave the occupation to the Russians, British, French and Belgians, but that would be neither fair nor expedient. We certainly want a hand in re-educating the Germans, since twice within a generation they've dragged us into war and thus demonstrated that American isolation is impossible.

Need Mental Defeat
So we arrive at the conclusion that Yankee troops must participate in the occupation of Germany. That much is apparent to the careful observer. Obviously it isn't the business of the observer, however, to determine how these soldiers shall be provided. One might venture the thought, though, that service in the force of occupation might be made attractive enough so that sufficient trained men would want to volunteer.

Surely none can overlook the fact that it's better to serve in a peace-time force of occupation, than to be in actual combat because peace has been ruptured again by the war-mongering Germans.

As things now stand we haven't completed our task of defeating the Germans. We have them beaten physically for the time being, but we haven't thrashed them mentally. Many of them still cherish thoughts of revenge and of fresh conquest.

If we make the occupation investment now, the likelihood is that we can prevent further aggression by the Germans. And that will go a long way towards ensuring world peace.

VICTOR BUYS LOCAL PLANT

The Victor Products Corporation of Pennsylvania has purchased the plant on North Washington street where it has operated since 1942 from the O'Sullivan Rubber company, former owners and operators of the establishment.

Purchase price was listed as $40,250 for the building and equipment. Roy P. Funkhouser is president and general manager of the Victor Products corporation of Pennsylvania; Ray M. Hoffman, vice president and treasurer, and Miss Nina Merrow, secretary. The Pennsylvania company was organized in 1942 and the local plant was divorced at that time from the Victor Products Corporation of Maryland, of which Mr. Funkhouser is vice president.

Plans for future expansion of the concern are still undetermined but the corporation purchased a property adjoining the present plant in June 1943. At that time it was announced that the purchase was made to provide for post-war building.

RETURNING HOME

Capt. Francis T. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Snyder, Baltimore street, arrived on the west coast Friday aboard the "Pierce" and expects to reach Indiantown Gap for discharge in about 10 days. He has notified his parents. He has been in the service nearly six years, the last six months of which were spent in the Philippines.

PROSPECTS OF JOBS FOR VETS FAIRLY BRIGHT

Adams county veterans returning from the services are finding the employment picture, while not glittering in its possibilities, still fairly bright despite the absence of the high paying war production jobs that obtained during the past years.

Eleven of the county's concerns have been approved by the Veterans Administration to provide on-the-job or apprenticeship training to the veterans under the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights and additional establishments will be added to the list in the near future, according to the county office of the United States Employment Service.

In addition there are 555 jobs open in the county, although many of them are requests for female labor, according to the lists available at the USES.

Pay For Apprentices

A majority of the posts are in the pulpwood industry which is undermanned in the county, and which few if any veterans seem to prefer. A total of 4,000 letters were sent out by the USES to persons in the county telling of the prospects for employment, either full or part time in the cutting and handling of pulp wood, but those wanting the jobs were few.

On-the-job training for the men, as well as the apprenticeship training program provides under the GI Bill subsidies for the veterans' wages during the period of his training. The approved employing firm pays the veteran its regular apprenticeship wage and the government, through the Veterans Administration, adds a monthly sum sufficient to bring the veteran's pay up to that of a skilled worker in the trade he is studying. As the veteran progresses in his apprenticeship and his wages increase the government subsidy decreases.

Top authorized subsidy for a single veteran is $65 a month and $90 a month for a married veteran. A maximum training period is established for each trade or job. Employers receive project approval through the USES while veterans receive approval for training through the Veterans' Administration.

Approved List

It was pointed out by the local employment office however that most of the approved employers of the county have already hired their quota of apprentices, and all veterans who desire on-the-job or apprenticeship training should first contact the local USES to determine where there are openings.

The firms approved for apprenticeship training so far include:

The United Telephone company, Timmins Electric, Times and News Publishing company, Keystone Tree Surgeons and Glenn C. Bream garage, all of Gettysburg; Littlestown Hardware and Foundry, Keystone Cabinet, I. H. Crouse and Sons, and Stanley Stover Electrical company, all of Littlestown, and the Cannon Shoe company and E. C. Livingston Shoe company, both of New Oxford.

TEACHERS AND PUPILS ASKED TO SAVE DIMES

Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman of the Infantile Paralysis committee for the January 30th party in the Hotel Gettysburg to raise money for the paralysis fund, has started the annual March of Dimes campaign.

In a letter to the school teachers of the county Mrs. Codori asked the instructors to have their pupils fill the March of Dime cards to help raise more money. The letters, which were mailed today, read as follows:

"Again we are called upon this year to raise funds to combat the dreaded infantile paralysis plague that annually strikes this country. What we do now may save the lives of many of our youngsters in the future. Adams county, as you are well aware, has been severely plagued by this disease on several occasions.

Heavy Expenses

"As in the past several years I have appealed to you to help us raise funds through the March of Dimes campaign... the drive to collect ten cents from each school pupil in the county. Your response in the past has been magnificent.

"Our expenses during the past year have totaled almost $1,000 and for one county case we spent $552. I cite these instances to show how important it is that we raise a large amount of money each year.

"I am enclosing some March of Dimes cards. Won't you please make every effort to fill these cards with ten cent pieces and return them to me not later than January 26? I do appreciate all you have done and I feel certain I can depend upon you again this year."

NEW PROTESTS FROM GI'S IN CHINA THEATER

Shanghai, Jan. 12 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today told his China theater troops he was proud that they had not held demobilization speedup demonstrations. A short time later, 600 men and a few officers did, voicing send-us-home demands similar to those made by other Yanks throughout the world.

"Your sense of fairness and decency and your determination to reflect credit upon yourselves and your country during war and after V-J Day have won the admiration and respect of everyone," Wedemeyer said in a special message.

He said Americans are not in China to do a job for the Chinese but "we are here to do a job for our own country, a job deemed vital by our government and clearly indicated in President Truman's speech x x x as required to preserve peace x x x."

"Case Of The Missing Lines"

Gettysburg's new parking meter situation is rapidly developing into the "Case of the Missing Lines."

The new lines painted on the street marking the car "stalls" for the meters about six weeks ago have practically disappeared under the rain, dirt and wear. Meantime the previous parking lines, which through years of repainting have developed marked resistance to ordinary scuffing and weather are appearing brighter than the new lines with the result that autoists are parking between the wrong lines — which are the only ones clearly distinct.

As a result the town is "losing money" on its meters. Frequently during the past several days on the northeast corner of the square 11

GROSS VOICES VETS' PROTESTS ON SLOW RETURN

A possible explanation of the organized "revolt" in the Pacific among U. S. troops against the War Department's demobilization program is contained in several letters recently read by Congressman Chester A. Gross to the House of Representatives.

With the army at that time claiming that troops were not being brought from the Pacific to separation centers because of the lack of transportation, the Congressman quoted the letters to show that the men themselves were convinced there was no lack of shipping space for their return despite the claims of the army.

The disgust shown by the troops over the recent army "solicitude" which prohibited the soldiers from being returned on the same ships that took them to the Pacific area may have led the men to distrust any army pronouncement, it was believed here today.

Men Await Returns

Speaking before the House of Representatives, according to the Congressional Record, Congressman Gross asserted that "From the way the soldiers are being handled and their return being held up, one is almost led to the belief that the army has moved in and taken over. At any rate that is the way the country has begun to feel about this matter."

Quoting from a letter from a soldier to his mother which claimed that "this sitting around and waiting is driving me crazy. All the news we get here from Manila is totally disheartening. Men with 80 and 90 points are still sitting around waiting to come home from down here," the Congressman charged that "There is no reason for many of these soldiers being over here."

Complaints by a number of soldiers concerning the War Department statement that the ships that took them to the Pacific are too insular to bring them back were reported by Congressman Gross.

Sanitary Reasons

One letter read by Gross, from a soldier in the Philippines stated: "the officer in charge of the sanitation department issued a statement the other day to the effect that Liberty ships could be fixed up in 48 hours to transport about 750 troops back to the States in each one. Now the generals are trying to have him turn out for that. They claim it isn't sanitary enough to move troops on them, yet thousands of troops came over here on them, and they have been used to transport troops back and forth over here. One of them was good enough to bring about 500 men up here to the Philippines, and I was one of them, and so I can't see why they can't be used to get us home."

Another letter which the Congressman said was signed by 11 veterans (Please turn to Page 3)

Here And There News Collected At Random

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, today urged the churches of this country to join with Christians of other lands in special prayer services for a just and durable peace to be held during the first meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations, which began in London this week.

Bishop Oxnam hailed the event as one "for which many peoples have prayed and worked and sacrificed through grim and tragic years."

He pointed out that the British Council of Churches had arranged weekly services of prayers during the period of the meeting.

Thirty-six homes in Gettysburg and the Seminary have offered rooming facilities that will care for approximately 87 war veterans who will enter the second semester at Gettysburg college. The use of two fraternity houses will increase the present accommodations to approximately 120.

An official at the college this morning stated that the number of veterans who will come here on January 29 may probably increase to 175. "We are receiving applications daily and we are making every effort to accommodate these men who so ably served their country during the war emergency," the official said. "We need more rooms," he added.

The acute housing and room shortage in Gettysburg does not only affect incoming college students but a number of families in town and by April 1 the shortage is expected to be the worst this town has ever experienced.

More than 30 families are known to have received notices that they will have to vacate within the next 60 to 90 days and in practically every instance they have no immediate home in which they may move. The sale of many local properties and the removal of many rural residents to town are contributing factors to the shortage.

Red Cross Needs Help With Capes

The Adams County Red Cross today sought women from throughout the county to help in sewing capes for European children in order that the chapter may finish a quota of 240 by the end of March.

Mrs. P. J. McGlynn, production chairman of the Red Cross, pointed out that women who were unable to come to the Red Cross sewing room on East High street for the work can, if they wish, take the material to their homes and sew the capes there.

The capes are relatively simple to make, she said, and the materials for the garments are already cut. The large quota and the urgency with which the clothing is needed by the refugee children of Europe who are facing the winter in many cases without homes, with a few garments and with little food, make the work most important, Mrs. McGlynn said.

DEFEAT RUSSIAN MOVE TO DELAY COUNCIL ACTION

London, Jan. 12 (AP)—The United Nations general assembly today rejected by a vote of 34 to 9 a Russian motion to delay formation of the vital security council.

The vote came after U. S. Secretary of State James P. Byrnes, taking the floor for the first time, opposed the Soviet proposal on the ground that it would set a bad precedent.

It meant that the assembly would go ahead immediately with the task of electing six non-permanent members for the security council, which will eventually control the proposed world police force.

"Dangerous Precedent"
Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand sided with the Soviet delegation in a speech in which he virtually demanded a place for Australia on the council as a representative of the southwest Pacific.

Jan Masaryk, chief of the Czechoslovakian delegation, also lined up with the Russian contending that a delay would be useful on helping the assembly make up its mind.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, however, backed Byrnes and called upon the assembly to "put an end to lobbying and get on with the vote, quite straight." He said he regarded the motion as "a very dangerous precedent."

The postponement motion was made by Andrei Gromyko, Soviet ambassador to the United States and acting chief of the Russian delegation, who contended that a delay would give more time for discussion on the choice of the six non-permanent members of the council.

NEW PROTESTS

release an additional 6,000 men this month.

Six hundred soldiers and a scattering of officers, claiming to represent most army units in the Shanghai area, demonstrated before the American club and at the race course after Wednesday's message had been released. Spokesmen asserted the need for American troops in China no longer exists and that theater deactivation and demobilization is in order. They also asked that draftees inducted since V-J Day be speeded to China to replace veterans of two to three years' service.

Eisenhower To Speak

Announcement that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz would discuss the thorny problem before a congressional session next Tuesday brought no immediate halt in the flow of angry cables and radiograms from overseas personnel.

The case was brought into court by John R. Mitchell of Latrobe who asserted petitions for the referendum were defective and that the Westmoreland county election board had no legal right to receive and file such petitions or submit the referendum to the voters.

"He seemed to be such a nice man," the voice said, "that I wouldn't want his wife to think there is another woman in his life. I do hope you'll explain that I'm awfully sorry about the lipstick, and I hope his wife reads the story."

PROMISE

San Francisco (AP)—Superior Judge Herbert Kaufman addressed a prisoner before him on a repeat charge of passing fictitious checks: "My man, you've had your chance. This time you go to San Quentin."

The prisoner held up a finger and replied patiently: "But judge, when I appeared before you eight months ago, you said if I didn't behave myself, you'd give me a year in the county jail."

The records were checked—and the prisoner went to county jail.

PICK 5 NATIONS FOR UNO COUNCIL

London, Jan. 12 (AP)—Five nations were elected to fill five of the six non-permanent places on the United Nations' all-important Security Council by the Assembly today after a sharp dispute over procedure in which the United Nations and Britain split with Russia.

The countries elected were Brazil (47 votes), Egypt (45), Mexico (45), Poland (39) and the Netherlands (37), all chosen on the first ballot.

A straight vote between Canada and Australia then was called to fill the sixth place when Canada failed to gain the necessary two-thirds on the first ballot.

All five elected states and Canada were on a slate which had been circulated by the United States delegation. Russia had been reported critical of the candidacies of Mexico and the Netherlands.

The necessary figure for election was put at more than 34 votes by Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak. In the first balloting Canada received 34 votes and was ruled not elected. Australia drew 28. Other nations which received votes on the first ballot included Iran, (6); Norway, (5); Czechoslovakia, (5), and Denmark, (4).

Report On Judges To Be Filed Soon

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—A report of its investigation of two Pennsylvania federal jurists will be placed before Congress soon by the House Judiciary committee.

Involved in the inquiry are Judge Albert L. Watson and former Judge Albert W. Johnson, both of the Pennsylvania middle district court.

Johnson, 73, resigned last July, in the midst of the investigation, after 20 years on the bench. Watson, now 69, was appointed a judge 16 years ago. He became presiding judge of the two-judge court when Johnson resigned.

Johnson, three of his lawyer sons, and six other persons are now under indictment in Scranton, Pa., on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States. No trial date has been set.

Seek Missing Air Transport In Snow

Ringtown, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—A crew of 50 to 75 rescuers struggled through deep snows today attempting to reach what may be the wreckage of a C-45 army transport plane missing since Sunday.

Lt. Col. J. J. Mullin of the Bedford (Mass.) army air base reported the plane failed to arrive at Bedford after taking off from Olmsted Field, Middletown, Pa. He listed crewmen of the plane as Lt. Philip Dittman, 30, Pittsburgh, and Lt. Joseph S. Lavoie, 21, West Los Angeles, Calif.

At Middletown, the Air Technical Command's public relations office said pilots reported sighting what appeared to be elevator surfaces hanging from trees and other debris which appeared to be burned. Pilots said it was impossible to be sure from the air that the debris was from a plane and said there was no trace of the missing crewmen.

Combines have come into general use in the county in the last few years but this is announced as the first self-propelled "clipper harvester" to come into this area.

Shantytown In Old Chinese Cemetery Is Odd Sight In Manila

By HAL BOYLE

Manila, (AP)—Shantytown settlements are scattered throughout Manila and one of the most unusual lies in an ancient Chinese cemetery.

These squatters among the dead are homeless Filipinos who have built rude bamboo and palm thatch shelters between costly Chinese tombs.

With no superstitions awe of hidden bones that lie around them, barefoot Filipino children shriek happily in this strange playground while their mothers cook the evening meal. Watchdogs bark among the tombs whenever a wayfarer in the cemetery passes near the bamboo huts.

Some Make Money

It is an eerie community, but there is no rent to pay. Some squatters actually make money here. They are paid to trim memorial trees and grass lawns on the tombs of wealthy Chinese. Some are able to keep their families by this means.

Manila has a large Chinese population and it has a large and ornate cemetery.

It is a wilderness of stone figures and colorful designs. Many of the tombs are beautiful and elaborate and look more like open houses than graves.

The Chinese bury their dead with more ceremony and expense than is usual in most lands and seem to remember them more in other ways.

than is customary in busy America.

No matter how he may have to scrimp in life, the poorest Chinese likes to go to his gods in all the style and greatness his purse and that of his family can afford. He doesn't want to go empty-handed into the hereafter.

Wealthy Chinese Buddhists are interred in colorful temple style tombs that cost thousands of dollars. Their happy, fat bellied god laughs from tiled roofs, beneath which are emblazoned hundreds of small figures in friezes of intricate carving and rainbow hues.

Christian Chinese are buried under great stone or plaster slabs surmounted by stone angels or crosses. Many of these tombs are two room, roofed affairs—one room for the dead, one for the living.

Adjoining Catholic and Protestant cemeteries hold the same romantic fascination for young lovers as do graveyards in the United States at night.

Two young Filipino boys with guitars have set up in business in one cemetery. They sit on a tomb and serenade a parked couple until they are paid to go and sit on another tomb farther away.

GROUNDHOGS TO OFFER UNO AID

Quarryville, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—First of the annual bids for prominence by followers of Pennsylvania's rival prognosticating groundhogs has been made by the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs with an offer of its "secret forecasting system" to the United Nations organization.

Every February 2, lodges in three parts of the state hold mystic rituals to welcome the groundhog on his awakening, each group scolding the weather bulletins of the other but all agreed that if the animal sees even a blur of his shadow, it means six more weeks of winter. If he doesn't, spring has arrived.

Charles P. Hess, hibernating governor of the Slumbering Lodge, yesterday beat his rivals to the yearly clamor as to which "chuck" is the authentic oracle. Hess sent a telegram to Dr. Stoyan Garvilev, chairman of the UNO's Site-Selecting committee, saying the lodge would settle UNO's "trouble in selecting a site for the United Nations capital" by setting up headquarters at this eastern Pennsylvania town.

Hess said he made a "tremendous concession" in offering the UNO the lodge's secret of long range weather predictions, with the reservation that "the predictions must not be used in waging war."

No reaction has come yet from the other two groups—Western Pennsylvania's Gobbler's Knob, near Piquette, nor the Grundsow Lodge Number Ains in Al Lechaw in the Pennsylvania German section near Allentown.

Armed Bandits Rob Store, Truss Clerks

Wellsburg, W. Va., Jan. 12 (AP)—Three armed bandits, posing as customers, walked into the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store here shortly before 9 o'clock last night, herded the assistant manager, Miss Ann Householder, and four girl clerks into a receiving cage for merchandise, tied them up and robbed the store of about $2,000.

It was an hour before the girls extricated themselves through a rear door and notified the sheriff's office.

Things Of The Soil

Place Orders Early this year

Farmers, fruit growers and gardeners should place orders for fertilizer, seed, planting stock, spraying materials and new equipment as early as possible. The wisdom of this course is found not only in the assurance of getting better supplies in the case of seeds and plants, but in avoiding later disappointments because of last-minute rushes through serious tie-ups in shipping. In fact, lack of replacement equipment after four years of war conditions leaves railroads unable to meet peace time requirements unless growers cooperate by early ordering.

Fertilizer manufacturers are urging farmers and gardeners to estimate their fertilizer needs and place their entire 1946 order not later than this month. This does not mean that growers are asked to buy and pay for their year's supply of fertilizer at once or even have it delivered within the next two or three months. It does, however, suggest that every grower, large and small, see his local fertilizer dealer at once and order his prospective requirements so that manufacturers may estimate their aggregate output for the next six or eight months and make their initial shipments before the normal spring clogs rail transportation.

Of course, experienced gardeners know that early orders for seeds bring not only more prompt deliveries but the highest quality seed. Delay in ordering this year may result in failure to obtain enough seed of certain vegetables to round out a full complement of crops needed for home and marketing.

Growers who plan to plant brambles and other bush fruits should order stock at once for late February or early March delivery. Where these materials are to be purchased through local dealers, orders should be placed now for the same reasons cited for ordering fertilizers and garden seeds early. Restricted shipping facilities warrant January ordering of fruit trees, grape vines and other bulky plants to be set out this spring.

According to national manufacturing periodicals, the supply of insecticides, fungicides and other spraying materials will be near adequate for domestic demands. But again, manufacturers must depend on individual users to estimate their needs well in advance of the first spraying tasks and place their orders with local dealers, else spring and early summer may find manufacturers unable to meet requirements because of labor shortages and disrupted shipping conditions.

Farm and garden tool supplies remain unpredictable. Strikes in major industries are handicapping manufacturers in obtaining materials; many plants are not yet fully reconverted to peace time roles. Too, shipping may prove a serious bottleneck in the heavy goods industries. The wise farmer and gardener will not risk delay in ordering such equipment.

Perhaps a note of warning to potential buyers of insecticidal materials is timely. It is this: Do not take too seriously the rumors that DDT is a cure-all and that it will take the place of old standard insecticides in the orchard and garden. This new chemical is yet to be proven fully. And quite certain is the fact that most of the common insect enemies of 1946 will be controlled by the same formulas and materials and methods which have held them in check in recent years.

NEW ALUMINUM USES AVAILABLE

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—The government today forecast "greatly increased" use of aluminum in housing, automobiles and many other things as the result of a break in the patent deadlock involving the light metal.

By winning from the Aluminum Company of America free use of its patents for low-cost processing of aluminum ore, the Surplus Property Administration said it has "cleared the way for competition in the aluminum industry."

First result of the agreement will be to permit the Reynolds Metal company to lease two government-owned plants in Arkansas.

Reynolds will sign both leases with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shortly, SPA Administrator W. Stuart Symington said.

Terminating last night's arrangement the "key to SPA's aluminum plant disposal program," Symington asserted:

"This decision of Reynolds and splendid contribution of Alcoa is the first step in putting back to work thousands of Americans and at the same time makes it possible to follow the American tradition of competitive free enterprise in the aluminum industry."

Jockey Sentenced In Shooting Case

Jack Favorite, 18, Emmitsburg jockey, was fined $15 and costs and given a suspended sentence of three months in the Maryland House of Correction at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph K. Ash, Emmitsburg, Friday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon which resulted after a state police probe into the shooting of George Ott, 17, Emmitsburg, on November 24.

Ott was wounded in the left leg, near the groin, when Favorite pulled a .32 calibre revolver from his pocket and started "playing" with it at a service station on Route 15, near Emmitsburg. The gun discharged wounding Ott.

The shooting was officially listed as accidental. Charges against Favorite for carrying a concealed weapon were laid by State Trooper Richard E. Myers, of the Maryland state police.

Record Must Pay $25,000 Damages

Philadelphia, Jan. 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Record has been ordered to pay $25,000 damages to John O'Donnell, New York Daily News Washington correspondent, in settlement of a libel suit.

O'Donnell's suit was based on an editorial which appeared in the Record, May 18, 1941. The verdict was handed down yesterday in common pleas court No. 2 after a five-day trial presided over by Judge James Gay Gordon.

The decision was the second in favor of O'Donnell in a $50,000 suit. The first ended in a mistrial. In January, 1942, O'Donnell was granted the exact sum claimed but in March, 1943, that verdict was granted excessive and a new trial ordered by President Judge L. Stauffer Oliver for the three judges of common pleas court.

TROJANS HALT MAROON QUINT BY 34-28 SCORE

Gettysburg high school's hopes for a South Penn league title were given a rude jolt Friday evening when the defending champions, Chambersburg, handed the Maroons a 34-28 reverse on the Trojan court before an over-flow crowd which included many local fans.

The triumph was the second straight loss for Chambersburg and marked the opening of the league season for Gettysburg. The same teams met here on February 8 in what may well decide the southern division title.

From start to finish the game was hotly contested. Neither team could break into the scoring in the early minutes of the game. A trio of goals by Leisher, single tallies by Gillespie and Palmer coupled with a foul shot by Palmer gave Chambersburg an 11-7 advantage at the close of the first period. The Maroons' points came on goals by Raffensperger, Rasmussen and Gorman and a free toss by Gorman.

Maroons Forge Ahead
Coach Forney's lads picked up a point on their opponents in the second period when they outscored the Trojans 7-6 to trail 17-11 at half time. Gettysburg tallies came on a pair of twin-pointers by Heintzelman and one by Gorman together with a charity throw by Heintzelman. Gillespie and Leisher connected from the field for Chambersburg while Young and Sellers converted foul tosses.

The Maroons made their strongest bid for victory in the third period and early in the round took a 3-point lead but fell behind 25-24 at the end of the quarter. Gorman landed a pair of goals, Hess one with Rasmussen looped two fouls and Hess and Raffensperger one each. Palmer spear-headed the Chambersburg offense with three goals.

Gettysburg's offense in the last quarter consisted of goals by Rasmussen and Gorman while Chambersburg pulled into a comfortable lead on two tosses by Palmer, one by Sellers and another by Leisher and a foul by Gillespie.

Scrubs Bow
Palmer paced the winners with 13 points while Gorman looped 11 to lead the locals.

The Chambersburg reserves won easily from the Maroons in the preliminary affair 44-24. At half time Coach Ridinger's lads trailed 19-14.

Next Friday the Maroons will open a four-game home stand by meeting Waynesboro here in another division game.

Lehigh Dribblers Play Here Tonight

This evening the undefeated Gettysburg college quintet will inaugurate its Middle Atlantic conference season by playing host to Lehigh university on the college court.

The game will get underway at 8 o'clock, no preliminary tilt being listed.

All indications point to a nip and tuck battle. Lehigh's Spence Wright has been named as one of the outstanding cage performers in the state so far this season.

Extra bleachers will be erected on the stage in the gym to accommodate the large crowd anticipated. Sherman and Strickler will be the officials.

Prof. C. E. Billheimer, athletic director at the college, has announced that only one-way traffic will be permitted on the campus, cars entering from West Lincoln avenue.

EAST BERLIN IN CLOSE TRIUMPH

East Berlin high captured its sixth basketball victory in eight starts Friday evening by taking a thrilling extra period tilt from Red Lion at East Berlin 27-26.

A free throw by Himes was the only score in the over-time session.

Poe played an outstanding game for the winners, being particularly effective in securing possession of the ball under the backboards. East Berlin missed many opportunities from the free throw lane, converting but three of 13 attempts. Red Lion looped six of nine.

The Red Lion reserves drubbed the East Berlin jayvees 34-10.

Nelson Clings To Golf Tourney Lead

San Francisco, Jan. 12 (AP)—Byron Nelson held a commanding four-stroke lead today going into the third round of the San Francisco open golf $15,000 victory bond tour-namment.

Bad luck or brilliant play by any one of the crack players trailing him might easily wipe out Nelson's margin but, in view of the steady game he has been playing, particularly yesterday's spectacular one-under par 70 in a strong wind, it looked like the Toledo pro probably would carry off the $3,000 first prize. His total at the halfway mark was 143—

only one over par.

In the best spot to head off Nelson were Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., leader of the opening day's play, and George Sneider,

Salt Lake City, with totals of 147.

Harper slipped a bit yesterday with a 76, while Sneider added a workmanlike 74 to his first round 73.

Close behind at 148 were Ben

Hogan, Hershey, Pa., and Henry

Ransom, Houston, Tex., and a stroke behind them were Jim Ferrier, Chi-

Littlestown HI DIVIDES GAMES

Littlestown high divided a pair of basketball games played at West-

The Littlestown boys dropped a thriller 15-23 after leading throughout the first three periods. The Thunderbolts went into the last period leading 18-15 but Westmin-

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
THE BETTER FEAT
"Heigho!" said I. "What's up today? Too busy are you with friends at play To come for awhile to walk with me And see whatever there is to see?"
To his playmates small, with a merry smile,
He shouted: "Wait for a little while. My grandpa's waiting to walk with me, And I think he's lonely for company."

Then off together we went to walk,
Of things discovered nearby to talk,
And I'd say such a comradeship to claim
Is better by far than world-wide fame.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
INVESTMENT IN COURTESY

Many a man has started his business career with no other capital than a small loan or a small sum of money saved and—Courtesy! And I am of the opinion that Courtesy will be acknowledged, in after years, as the most valuable as an investment.

The small merchant who puts a high value upon Courtesy will not long remain small. Every day he will add to his good will. Each day will return customers who will enjoy dealing with him, and who will voluntarily become his publicity agents. Courtesy travels on fast legs!

But this Courtesy must work both ways. The Customer must enjoy being courteous, as well as the dealer or merchant. The shopper who has no consideration for the one who waits upon him or her, and the clerk behind the counter who fails to be courteous, each defeats himself and cheats the other. And the store, as well, gets a black eye.

Courtesy among nations is just as important as among individuals. Name calling and false suspicions never made a friend, and have lost many a one. I have learned from actual experience that the biggest men and women are those who are the most Courteous and Kindly. They are easiest to approach and just in their actions.

John Charles Thomas used to end his singing broadcasts with the words, "Good Night, Mother," and I believe that we all feel warmer toward an announcer who speaks Courteously over the radio to his guest. I note that this is done after the Kaltenborn news broadcast, when the announcer says, "Good Night, Mr. Kaltenborn."

No one ever lost anything by being Courteous, but everyone loses when he isn't. And it is so easy—and pleasant, all around, to be Courteous. After a purchase in a store, where you have been treated with the utmost Courtesy, you go away with a warm feeling toward both store and clerk.

Why can't we as individuals keep investing in this valuable commodity, that costs nothing but which pays so much?

Sheely Takes Oath as Judge of Two Counties: With a solemn "I do" W. C. Sheely, of Gettysburg, became president judge of the Common Pleas court of Adams and Fulton counties Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Associate Judges John C. Bream and F. X. Coigan were on the bench.

The induction exercises were opened by Clerk of the Courts C. F. Palmer, who read the new jurist's commission, given under the hand and seal of Governor George H. Earle.

Mr. Sheely then advanced to the clerk's desk in front of the bench and took the oath read by Prothonotary S. L. Allison.

F. R. Bigham Is Taken Into Law Firm: Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., of Biglerville, has been taken into partnership by John D. Keith, Esq. Mr. Bigham succeeds Judge W. C. Sheely as Mr. Keith's associate. Henceforth the firm will be known as Keith and Bigham.

Couple Weds: Miss Mary K. Hinkle, of Gettysburg, and Joseph E. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Sanders, Gettysburg R. D., were married at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, by the Rev. Father Mark E. Stock in the rectory of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church.

Slagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slagle, both of New Oxford, were united in marriage Thursday evening at 9 o'clock at the Memorial United Brethren church parsonage, by the Rev. Dr. N. B. S. Thomas, pastor.

Mr. McDannell is teaching in the Rocky Grove school, Straban township.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S. & E.

The fellow who missed so many motoring pleasures during the war now steps on the gas and is still missing them.

Freezing from Rings.
Believe it or let it pass with the scenery, when John J. had a new set of piston rings installed in the engine of his car he quickly acquired a frozen radiator. The two conditions do not seem to bear any relation, but listen:

John's helper did not know motors, fitted rings that pressed too firmly on the cylinder walls, causing the engine to overheat. This, in turn, caused anti-freeze to siphon out the overflow of the radiator. John kept putting more water into the radiator, never realizing that he was leaning out the anti-freeze mixture until it was powerless as protection against a ten below morning.

Anything Goes in Queries.
When I asked a woman why she had never written me about her car in the four years she had been reading this column the answer was just what I expected. "I've wanted to ask you several questions about my car, but I thought you might think them a bit silly," she confessed. I think a lot of other readers hold the same notion, yet if they could read some of the letters that pour over my desk daily they'd realize that there is no limit to what bothers a motorist. One chap recently asked me for details on how to remove carbon with the aid of salt water. Another was quite concerned over the "pimples" he noticed on the spark plugs. A lot of people ask that old one about why not an extra battery for cold starting. "How does gas reach the cylinders?" may sound like a silly one, but a lot of experienced motorists can't answer it. They will think of everything but piston suction.

Kicked Up Some Dust.
I've been getting some interesting comments on the 1000th release of this column which happened in November. One editor opined, "You have brought up a whole generation of motorists, and now you've got a new batch to work on." There was quite a bit of interest in some of the cars that have come and gone during the 20-year period. Some spoke tenderly of the passing cars; others were inclined to celebrate. A few of my readers took occasion to stress the crying need for safety and urged me to go to town on that phase of motoring — if motoring is to survive. I think they have something there, especially after witnessing that lad driving an old crate 40 miles an hour through a shopping center. The tires were in ribbons and the tail pipe was practically dragging on the street. Only his right hand was on the wheel.

the other being occupied in the process of helping him eat an apple.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"One of the most common rear-end noises in the car — 'bucking' or 'clashing' when coasting — may hint of several possibilities. The simplest of all is a loose wheel key on one of the rear axle shafts. It may be all right to check for worn universal joints, but if these are found the chances are that there will be other worn or incorrectly adjusted parts as well. Include in this group a worn propeller shaft thrust bearing, worn drive or pinion, worn bushing on the transmission drive gear or worn differential gears. In cases where a car has been roughly handled you may find that the rivets which hold the drive gear to the differential gear case are loose."

Tests Clutch Springs.

You probably won't notice it because the situation grows on you gradually, but some of these days the clutch springs are going to become a little too weak for reliability. A good way to check on this is to try pressing down the pedal with your hand. If the job is quite hard then the chances are that the springs are still in fine fettle. Easy disengagement of the clutch means that springs are so weak the clutch may not hold when you get to pulling out of sand, mud or snow.

Clearance Not Everything.

One of the common mistakes to make when trying to get rid of tappet noises is to assume that if clearances are correct there should be an end to such annoyances. Actually in the valve mechanism there are many places where noise can develop. A tappet, for instance, may be loose in its guide. Tappets sometimes are not free to rotate, this causing uneven wear at the tappet faces. Weak valve springs or sticky valves will also provide the basis for taps and other noises.

Three to Think Over.

If the engine appears to skip when you are going downhill on compression, and you start to open the throttle a little the indications are that either the mixture is a bit rich or that the pistons are pumping oil on the spark plugs. If the latter is the explanation there should be some smoke from the exhaust.

If you are planning to put the car to some hard work, such as a lot of hill climbing in snowy weather, you may find it practical to give the exhaust valve tappets an extra .002 inch of clearance to take care of expansion.

A lot of poor idling these days is due merely to too low idling speed. There is a natural tendency for engines to idle more slowly due to wear on the head of the throttle stop screw. Faster idling is better in winter so adjust the screw accordingly.

It's a Business.

In my forthcoming book designed for people who are coming into possession of a new car I am going to have a lot to say about being more businesslike in buying and financing automobiles. Instead of always being in debt I will suggest trying the plan of saving for a new car in advance of purchase. I would start with a lower priced car, working up the scale, if it isn't possible to get out of debt otherwise. In order to avoid hopping around from one make to another, never understanding any one thoroughly, I will advocate keeping to the same make of car so long as you are not forgetting advantages in improved design.

I'll also warn against being so in love with one feature of your car that you keep it too long and are blinded to its increasing shortcomings, and its tobogganing value to someone else. Timely will be my reminder that it doesn't pay to fall victim to the notion that the old cars were better. You'd never be content to have back even the last car you traded in.

Be careful when ordering a cylinder head gasket that you get the one for your particular model engine, otherwise there is the risk of a slightly different gasket pattern covering up a hole or two and thus blocking passage of water at some vital spot.

IN MEMORIAM
In sad and loving remembrance of our dear baby girl, Betty Ann Rummel, who died one year ago today, January 12, 1945.

Today our hearts are heavy.
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh how we miss you baby darling.
None but God in Heaven can see.

But you left us to remember.
None on earth can take your place
In our hearts your memory lingers
Always tender fond and true.

There's not a day goes by baby darling
That we do not think of you
And some day we will meet you
On Heaven's golden shore.
Sadly missed by her family.

LONG DISTANCE

SERVICE GONE

(By The Associated Press)
The breakdown of long distance telephone operations to points outside Pennsylvania was almost com-
to honor picket lines established around telephone exchanges
throughout the state.

The operators, not on strike themselves, refrained from passing through lines formed by members of the Association of Communications Equipment Workers (ACEW) consisting of employees of Western Electric company. Approximately 500
ACEW workers are on strike
throughout Pennsylvania.

The breakdown caused a tieup of all but No. 1 priority out-of-state calls from the state. That is all but calls involving troop movements and emergencies.

Long distance calls within the state were not affected since most of the operators of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania passed through the picket lines. Local calls were virtually normal.

In a formal statement issued last night, the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania described service within the state as "nearly normal."

What Motorists Are Asking
Q. Please tell me why the lights on my car occasionally go out. This seems to be when I am using the high beam. I've tried renewing the lamps themselves, but this has not helped. K. J.

A. There may be a short in the dimmer switch.

Q. Will it be necessary to take off the manifold to work on the valves of my car? What are the tappet clearances? L. B. M.

A. You need not remove either of the manifolds, but there are some other things to consider. Take off the right front wheel and the sheet metal panel in back of it. Then remove the valve cover plates before adjusting tappets. Clearances on your make and model should be .006 inch for the intakes, .008 inch for the exhausts. Give the exhausts an extra .002 inch if you have to use the car hard.

Q. The brakes on my car hold well for a while when going down a long hill but then they start slipping. There is no oil on the lining and the man who did the last brake job insists that he put on the right kind of lining. Is there any way to remedy this without installing a different kind of lining?
W. E. S.

A. These brakes do not slip, they "fade." This is quite a common condition and is best obviated by not using the brakes steadily on a downgrade. Go into the lower gears for compression braking. The brakes expand when they heat and that increases clearance. Some lining is more inclined to fade.

Q. I am a salesman, using my car six days a week. The trouble is persistent shimmy, in spite of balanced wheel and a carefully serviced front end. What do you think causes

this? J. A. B.

A. If you carry merchandise the rear end may be overloaded, causing sagging and excessive front-end caster.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

A swashbuckling story of piracy on the high seas, "Captain Kidd," a Benedict Bogues presentation starring Charles Laughton, will play at the Majestic theatre Monday and Tuesday through United Artists release.

Captain Kidd's was one of the most spectacular careers of a gaudy era. The most picturesque villain who ever brandished a cutlass or buried stolen treasure, it is surprising that Hollywood has not brought him to the screen before. Now they have, however, they have done full justice to his stormy and audacious temperament.

Randolph Scott, Barbara Britton, Reginald Owen, John Carradine and Gilbert Roland head the supporting cast.

WEDNESDAY

"The Southerner," the Jean Renoir production which plays Wednesday at the Majestic theatre, is the story of a man who loved the earth with an intense devotion.

Flanked by his loyal and spirited little family he struggles to make a living from the land, battling the elements with the courage that is born only of a sublime belief in an ideal and the determination to carry it to fulfillment.

Sam Tucker is the hero. As played by Zachary Scott he is a real person, the sort of American infused with all the sturdy qualities of our pioneer ancestors. His wife is equally courageous, taking her place beside her man and being one with him all the way. Director Renoir could not have made a better choice than Betty Field for this role.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Errol Flynn, who is co-starred with Alexis Smith in "San Antonio,"

The roaring west, in the days of Wild Bill Hickok, the Dalton boys and Pecos Alice, with its colorful cowmen, its turbulent cattle towns and its legendary history, lives again in Warner Bros. moving technical drama, "San Antonio," which arrives Thursday at the Majestic theatre. Starring Errol Flynn and Alexis Smith and featuring S. Z. Cuddles, Sakall, Victor Francen, John Littel and Paul Kelly, the film tells an exciting story of range war and cattle rustling on the open prairies of Texas.

Adapted for the screen from an original screenplay by Alan LeMay and W. R. Burnett, "San Antonio" paints a lavish picture of adventure and romance against a background of breath-taking scenic beauty. Spectacular cattle stampedes, dangerous trick riding and a moving love story, all have been incorporated into the thundering motion picture.
